

Doctrine of Julliunite

Hello, my name is Joseph D. Smith, and I am the founder of the religion/way of life/philosophy, etc called Julliunite. Julliunite is about expansion, to continue building your faith and building on, to your beliefs. Julliunite is an expanding system of belief. It is about furthering your quest for spiritual knowledge. Julliunites expand their beliefs, adding on to their personal beliefs.

Julliunite can be defined as the religion that means you follow your own 'personal beliefs'.

I believe that everyone has their own personal afterlife. You choose what you do and have in the afterlife, such as a personal world created before you incarnated, or you will be able to make one once you have passed and have merged back with God. You can lurk around the Earth even!

In order for a spirit to merge back with God is to exit through a black hole, which operates as the portal to the Otherside. Although the Force flows through everyone, your spirit must find a black hole that will merge you with God. Your existence afterward is up to you!

Your family is watching over you, as your protectors, or so to say your angels. There most definitely are angels in disguise, people who have been enlightened, or has transcended Earthly karma. Although, incorporeal spirits a.k.a. disembodied spirits if they once had a body, can be in an infinite amount of places at one time, as they are not bound to our laws of physics!

Don't ask questions you don't want answers to! Don't ever let yourself ask, "I wonder what that feels like", such as a disease, because you are telling your brain, "We're inviting a disease into my body, so go for it man!"

I thirst for knowledge, self-education and learning! Although, I believe that no minor should be forced to attend school, unless it is their parent(s)' wishes to send their kids to school. Mandatory education is wrong in so many ways, because it hinders the parent(s)' ability to choose how they would best educate their kid! Parent(s)' should be allowed to choose how they educate their kids. I am largely self-taught, but I have to admit that I have learned a lot in school that I denied for many years. Knowledge is the most noble pursuit! I have a drive to learn, which learning is my ultimate drive for success and fulfillment! When I'm in the process of learning something, it makes me feel ecstatic or euphoric. It gives me that elated mood feeling!

Freedom is the ultimate pursuit of joy and happiness, and everyone should have complete control over their lives, without interference from a government, so that makes me an Anarchist. The laws that affect you should be without somebody telling you what you can and cannot eat, or what to put into your body!

Freedom is the only good, so I will defend my freedom at all costs! I will however obey my family, because I love them, they are the center of my life, so I listen just for my parents' and my sister's sake.

Just because something previously unknown is reported, it doesn't mean that there aren't more to be reported, they are just unreported. Deaths happen all the time, but only an interesting death, such as the first reported poisoning by an e-Liquid for an e-Cigarette will get coverage.

And most important of all, I believe that you should believe in what you do, otherwise don't do it at all! And most important of all, I believe that you should believe in what you do, otherwise don't do it at all! You must always look at the positive side of things, no matter how bad or severe the situation is.
